DEDICATION

This issue of the Kentucky Law Journal is dedicated to Professor Frank H. Randall, who will retire from active teaching and become professor emeritus at the College of Law, University of Kentucky, in June, 1948.

Professor Randall was born December 10, 1877, at Irwin, Iowa. He received his B.A. degree from the University of Iowa in 1902, LL.B., University of Iowa, 1908, and S.J.D., Harvard, 1928.

Professor Randall taught in Iowa City High School, Iowa City, Iowa, 1902-1905, and at the University of Iowa, 1905-1906. He was admitted to the practice of law in Iowa in 1908, and practiced alone and as a member of the firms Grim, Trewin and Randall, and Barnes, Chamberlain and Randall at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 1909-1919, and with Edward Korab as Randall and Korab, Iowa City, Iowa, 1923-1926. He served as assistant city solicitor in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 1915-1917. He was temporary and permanent chairman of the state Bull Moose convention at Des Moines, and delivered the keynote speech on that occasion. He served as a member of the school board in Cedar Rapids and a member of the City Council at Iowa City, Iowa.

Professor Randall was instructor in law at the University of Iowa from 1908 to 1909, associate professor of law, University of Iowa, 1918-1920, and professor of law, University of Iowa, 1920-1923. While teaching at the University of Iowa, he served as coach of the debating teams. During that period of three years, the University of Iowa won first place in the debating league composed of the Universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Nebraska and Iowa. In 1928 he came to the University of Kentucky as professor of law and has since served continuously in that capacity.

Professor Randall's teaching has been largely in the field of practice and procedure, including common law pleading, code pleading, practice court, civil procedure, trial practice, evidence, and federal jurisdiction and procedure. In addition to this he has taught private corporations, municipal corporations, property, contracts, quasi contracts, introduction to the study of law, use of books, criminal law, criminal procedure, damages, insurance, and domestic relations.

He has been a contributor to legal periodicals, and was faculty editor of the Kentucky Law Journal 1930-1931.

Professor Randall is a member of the Kentucky State Bar Association, Iowa State Bar Association, Phi Delta Phi, Phi Beta Kappa, and Order of the Coif.

The Kentucky Law Journal congratulates Professor Randall upon his many years of valuable service to the profession and wishes for him continued success in his new capacity as professor emeritus.
